

It used to be that almost every night I had annoying telemarketers calling during my evenings. But with our current laws in Indiana, my evenings are now much quieter and peaceful. I sometimes got 2 call per night before the Indiana law. Not too mention, the number of calls left on my answering machine has decreased dramitically. I love my quiet nights, and will be very unhappy if that changes due to federal law pre-empting our Indiana telemarketers laws.
